Safety, Health and Welfare Instruction

Under Clause 18 of the Model Clauses for production licences set out in Schedule 4 to the Petroleum (Production) Regulations 1966 as amended by the Petroleum (Production) (Amendment) Regulations 1971, incorporated in Production Licence No. P. 193

The Secretary of State for Trade and Industry instructs the Licensee

- I that until further notice and subject to the requirements of paragraph II below all operations in or about the licensed area to which the Licence relates shall be carried out in accordance with such provisions of Part VIII of the Institute of Petroleum Model Code of Safe Practice in the Petroleum Industry issued in October 1964 as relate to the safety, health and welfare of persons employed.
- II that until further notice the Licensee shall not carry out or permit to be carried out any operations authorised by this licence from an offshore installation or drilling vessel or use or permit to be used the same in or about the licensed area unless the following requirements relating to the safety, health and welfare of persons employed in or about the licensed area are performed and observed:-
- (1) Whenever such an installation or vessel is at anchor or affixed to or placed on the sea bed with a view to it being used in connection with searching or boring for petroleum there shall be on board a person appointed to be in sole command or charge (hereinafter called "the person in charge") of the installation or vessel and of all other persons on board who shall be in particular charged with the duty -

(a) to keep himself informed of all matters affecting the safety of the installation or vessel and the persons on board and to ensure that he is known to all other persons on board; and

(b) to arrange, whenever an attendant or other vessel is so placed as to involve risk of collision or of coming in contact with the installation or vessel, for the attendant or other vessel to be kept under continuous observation and for any contact to be reported to him and for the installation or vessel to be surveyed as soon as possible after any contact which may in his view have affected the safety of it:

Provided always that this requirement shall not apply if and so long as not more than ten persons are to be employed on board the installation or vessel at any time throughout a period of not more than 72 hours.

(2) A standby vessel shall be in attendance at every installation, other than a normally unmanned production platform, at all times when manned, unless the Master of the standby vessel is satisfied that weather conditions may jeopardise the safety of his vessel or unless there are provided on the installation effective escape capsules or other devices approved by the Secretary of State.

(3) On every installation or vessel -

(a) there shall be provided for use with the derrick hoisting equipment effective automatic contrivances to prevent running the travelling block into the crown block;

(b) all derrick ladders shall be caged or provided with adequate platforms at which any person using any such ladder may rest or shall be provided with other adequate safety equipment;

(c) the derrick floor shall be provided with a non-slip surface;

(d) in any electrical system which is not earthed in accordance with the provisions of paragraph 5.2.1.(a) of the Institute of Petroleum Electrical Safety Code being Part I of the Institute of Petroleum Model Code of Safe Practice in the Petroleum Industry (hereinafter called "the Code") dated 1965 the insulation of all conductors, other than earthing conductors, shall be rated to withstand full line voltage to earth, and effective means shall be provided to give indication of an earth fault on any part of the system and the supply of electricity shall forthwith be cut off from any apparatus or circuit on which an earth fault occurs and shall not be restored until the fault shall have been rectified;

(e) every electric motor to be used in a Division 2 Dangerous Area as defined in the Appendix to Part 1 of the Code which is not so constructed as to comply with paragraph 2.2(c) of the Code shall be cooled and ventilated only by air conveyed to it through a duct from a Safe Area as defined in the said Appendix;

(f) an efficient system shall be provided and a code of signals specified for giving warning thereby of any emergency, and an efficient public address system shall also be provided for giving additional warnings or instructions in such emergency.

(4) Every person employed on the installation or vessel shall be provided with a copy of instructions to be followed in the event of an emergency and such instructions shall also be prominently displayed in a sufficient number of places upon the installation or vessel as to be easily and frequently seen by all persons thereon.

(5) Smoking and naked lights shall be permitted only at places on the installation or vessel and at times where they shall not give rise to danger and notices prohibiting smoking and naked lights shall be prominently displayed at or near the places where smoking and naked lights are prohibited.

(6) All air compressing equipment on the installation or vessel shall be systematically examined externally and internally within intervals not exceeding twenty-six months or such shorter intervals as may be specified by the Licensee and any carbon deposits removed, and every receiver forming part of such equipment shall be provided with inspection holes in compliance with British Standard 487 Part I, 1960.

(7) All diving operations shall be carried out from the installation or vessel in accordance with a code of rules which shall be specified by the Licensee for the safe conduct of such operations.

(8) Adequate records shall be maintained on the installation or vessel of all matters affecting or relating to the safety of the installation or vessel and persons on board.

III To report to him immediately after its occurrence during or in connection with operations in the licensed area -

(1) any accident resulting in death or a broken limb or requiring transport of the injured from offshore to onshore for medical aid, with details of:-

- (a) name and occupation of killed or injured person
- (b) time and place of accident
- (c) nature of injury

- (d) estimated period of incapacity
 - (e) brief account of the cause of the accident;
- (2) any happening which could have resulted in serious injury in certain circumstances, but resulted only in an injury less serious than the minimum noted above or no injury.

IV (1) to maintain contact with the Port Medical Officer or Medical Officer of Health for the British port or other base from which operations in the licensed area are being conducted;

(2) to seek advice from such Officer on

(a) the requirements, particularly those relating to the action to be taken in cases of infectious disease or food poisoning, of the Public Health Act 1936 and the Food and Drugs Act 1955 or of the Public Health (Scotland) Acts 1897 and 1945 and the Food and Drugs (Scotland) Act 1956;

and on

(b) the arrangements that are necessary to ensure that suitable medical attention can be provided, on an installation or on the mainland, for persons employed on operations in the licensed area.

Dated 13 July 1972

Signed on behalf of the Secretary of State for Trade and Industry by a person authorised by him to act in that behalf.
